

Experience the difference in the Northern Territory

The Northern Territory offers a great lifestyle, spectacular scenery, and unique work opportunities not available elsewhere in Australia.

More importantly, you will have a positive impact on the health and wellbeing of a culturally rich and diverse population.

Are you an allied health professional? Start your adventure today!

Do you want to experience:

- New professional challenges?
- A broad scope of complex clinical presentations?
- The opportunity to travel to some of Australia's most beautiful rural and remote locations?
- A lifestyle like no other, where the warmth of the community is rivalled only by the climate?

Why choose NT Health?

- Meaningful work with purpose and impact.
- Career diversity and unique clinical opportunities.
- Connection to culture.
- Seek new adventures and experience the unique Territory lifestyle.

Meaningful work with purpose and impact

Make a difference: Contribute to the health and wellbeing of diverse communities across the Northern Territory. Your work will have a direct and meaningful impact on improving health outcomes and providing a real sense of purpose.

Community focus: Engage with a variety of patient demographics, including Aboriginal communities, and help address unique health challenges in the Territory.

NORTHERN TERRITORY GOVERNMENT

As an allied health professional in the Territory, you'll experience:

Diverse career opportunities with unique clinical caseloads

Workload diversity: Enjoy a variety of work experiences that are exclusive to the Territory and embrace the invaluable opportunities provided to develop your knowledge and skills.

Complex clinical experience: Expand your clinical skillset and embrace opportunities to advance your career through the delivery of care in a unique clinical environment.

Connection to culture and community through rural and remote healthcare

Cultural engagement: Engage with traditional practices and understanding of local customs to enhance the effectiveness of health interventions. Foster relationships with local Territorians and work collaboratively with community leaders and Aboriginal people to ensure the delivery of culturally respectful and responsive care.

Rural and remote healthcare opportunities: Embrace the unique geographical locations and the spectacular landscapes of the Territory as your workplace. With options to work across urban and regional centres as well as rural areas, explore opportunities to develop and expand a specialist skillset required to provide safe and effective remote healthcare.

Unique Northern Territory lifestyle adventure and flexibility

Flexible working arrangements: Enjoy a variety of work schedules to suit your lifestyle, including part-time, full-time, and remote health practice work options. Balance your professional and personal life to enjoy the things that matter most.

Generous leave entitlements: Take advantage of six weeks of annual leave to ensure you have time to recharge and pursue personal interests. Travel, explore and experience all the opportunities unique to the Territory.

Incentives

Being an allied health worker in the Territory is more than a job, it's a lifestyle. NT Health offers flexible work arrangements, a range of courses to grow your skills and progress your career, and an Employee Assistance Program for you and your family members.

Live the life you want while working in your dream role!

As an allied health worker living and working in the Territory, you may be eligible for:

- Six weeks of annual leave
- Annual professional development allowance
- Remote living subsidies
- Work-life balance initiatives
- Relocation assistance
- Study or research assistance
- Professional practice supervision/mentoring
- Additional regional and remote incentives.

Apply Now

To find out more and explore current opportunities with NT Health, visit healthjobs.nt.gov.au or scan the QR code.